Report of Independent Auditors

The Board of Trustees Scripps College

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Scripps College, which comprise the statements of financial position as of June 30, 2022 and 2021, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Scripps College as of June 30, 2022 and 2021, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of Scripps College and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audits. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Scripps College's ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Scripps College's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Scripps College's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control–related matters that we identified during the audit.

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

Founded in 1926, Scripps College (the College) is an independent, liberal arts college for women with a distinctive interdisciplinary core curriculum offering instruction in the humanities, fine arts, and the natural and social sciences. The College had an enrollment of approximately 1,090 students as of June 30, 2022. The campus is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Its mission is to educate women to develop their intellect and talents through active participation in a community of scholars, so that as graduates they may contribute to society through public and private lives of leadership, service, integrity and creativity.

Scripps College is a nonprofit corporation, exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and corresponding California provisions. The following accounting policies of the College are in accordance with those generally accepted for colleges and universities.

Basis of Presentation:

The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Net Asset Categories:

The accompanying financial statements present information regarding the College's financial position and activities according to two categories of net assets: without and with donor restrictions. The two categories are differentiated by donor restrictions.

Net assets without donor restrictions - Net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed restrictions.

Net assets with donor restrictions - Net assets that are subject to donor-imposed restrictions that either lapse from the passage of time or can be satisfied by actions of the College or subject to donor-imposed restrictions that they be maintained in perpetuity by the College. Generally, the donors permit the College to use all or part of the earnings on these assets for general or specific purposes.

Revenue and Expense Recognition:

Net student revenues - Student tuition, room, board and fees are recognized pro-rata over the applicable period of instruction. A contract is entered into with a student and covers a semester. Revenue recognition occurs once a student starts attending a semester. Student tuition and fees received in advance of services to be rendered are recorded as deferred revenues.

Contributions - Contributions, including unconditional promises to give, are recognized as revenue in the period received and are reported as increases in the appropriate category of net assets. Conditional promises to give are not recognized until they become unconditional, that is when the conditions on which they depend are substantially met. Contributions of assets other than cash are recorded at their estimated fair value. Contributions to be received in future periods are discounted to net present value at an appropriate discount rate. Individual uncollectable accounts are written off against the allowance when collection of the individual contributions receivable appears doubtful.

Federal Grants and Contracts - Revenue from grants and contracts have been evaluated and determined to be nonreciprocal, meaning the granting entity has not received a direct benefit of commensurate value in exchange for the resources provided. The revenue is recognized like a conditional contribution when the barrier to entitlement is overcome. The barrier to entitlement is considered overcome when expenditures associated with each grant or contract are determined to be allowable and all other significant conditions of the grant or contract are met. The transactions are then recognized as unconditional and recorded as increases in net assets without donor restrictions, as allowable expenditures under such agreements are incurred.

Investment Return - Investment income, expense, and gains and losses on investments and changes in other assets or liabilities are reported as increases or decreases in net assets without donor restrictions unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation.

Other Revenue - The College receives revenue from the rental of its real properties and facilities, catering, and programing activities from outside organization for educational purposes. Revenue is recognized in the period the activity occurs or is completed.

Expenses - Expenses are generally reported as decreases in net assets without donor restrictions. The financial statements present expenses by functional classification in accordance with the overall educational and research mission of the College.

June 30, 2022 and 2021

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, CONTINUED:

Operating Revenues and Expenses:

The College reports operating revenues and expenses in the net assets without donor restrictions section of the Statements of Activities. Operations are those annual activities which support the core mission of the College.

Operating revenues include charges for tuition, room and board, net of financial aid, gifts and grants, spending policy income, other net investment income, releases of net assets with donor restrictions for operations and annuity and life income, and other revenues.

Contributions and bequests without donor restrictions and bequests in excess of $500,000 each are considered non-operating, as are gifts in kind. Gifts in kind, due to their non-cash nature, are not available to pay for operating expenses.

Operating expenses (for which the operating revenues are used) include salaries and benefits, departmental expenses, depreciation, amortization and interest. These expenses are classified into four functional categories: Academic Program, Co-curricular Program, Marketing, and Administrative and General. Academic Program includes expenses for instruction and related academic support departments such as libraries, the Dean of Faculty and Registrar's offices. Co-curricular Program includes expenses associated with the residential life operation of the College and related support departments such as Dean of Students Office and Career Planning and Research. Marketing includes expenses for revenue development for College departments such as Admission/Financial Aid, Public Relations, Alumnae Relations and the Advancement Office. Administrative and General includes expenses such as planning, institutional research, liability insurance, legal and audit fees, and the President and Treasurer's Offices.

Allocation of Certain Expenses:

Depreciation, interest expense and the cost for the operation and maintenance of plant are allocated to the four functional categories based on building square footage dedicated to that specific function. Computing costs are allocated based upon estimated use. Other expenses are recorded to their respective functional category based on their relative direct cost.

Expiration of Donor-Imposed Restrictions:

The expiration of a donor-imposed restriction on a contribution or on endowment income is recognized in the period in which the restriction substantially expires. At that time, the related resources are reclassified to net assets without donor restrictions. A restriction expires when the stipulated time has elapsed, when the stipulated purpose for which the resource was restricted has been fulfilled, or both. The College follows the policy to recognize the fulfillment of the restrictions on contributions of cash or other assets received for the acquisitions of long-lived assets when the long-lived assets are placed into service.

Cash:

For the purposes of reporting cash flows, cash includes demand deposit bank accounts.

Concentration of Credit Risk:

Financial instruments that potentially subject the College to concentrations of credit risk consists principally of cash deposits at financial institutions and investments in marketable securities. At times, balances in the College's cash and investment accounts exceed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) or Securities Investors Protection Corporation (SIPC) limits.

Accounts Receivable:

Accounts receivable are primarily related to unsecured student accounts and affiliated institutions (see Note 20). No interest is charged and collectability of student accounts is reviewed both individually and in the aggregate. Allowances have been established based on experience and balances deemed uncollectible are written off through a charge to bad debt expense or the provision for doubtful accounts and a credit to accounts receivable.

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, CONTINUED:

Notes Receivable:

Notes receivable consists uncollateralized federal and institutional student loans and faculty mortage loans. The College participates in the federal Perkins revolving loan program that has expired and no longer permits disbursements of any kind after June 30, 2018. Loan repayments are distributed to the federal government and the College on the basis of their relative contributions to the program. Loans in default more than two years are assigned to the Department of Education for collection and results in a decrease to notes receivable and liability to the government. Loans made under the institutional loan programs have a 10-year repayment period, with rates between 3.00% and 9.00%. Interest is charged on student loans receivable after the student is no longer enrolled and recognized as payments are received. Student may be granted a deferment, forbearance, or cancellation based on eligibility requirements defined by the U.S. Department of Education or, in the case of institutional loan funds, based on the respective loan program. The College follows federal guidelines for determining when student loans are delinquent or past due for both federal and institutional loans. Collectability of student notes receivable is reviewed both individually and in the aggregate. Allowances have been established based on experience and balances deemed uncollectible are written off through a charge to bad debt expense or the provision for doubtful accounts and a credit to notes receivable.

Investments:

Investments are measured at fair value except for certain real estate investments held at original appraisal values and not revalued on a recurring basis, investments held at carrying amounts using the equity method, and other miscellaneous assets held at cost. Earnings on investments are presented in the Statements of Activities net of investment expenses.

Cash equivalents - cash equivalents classified within investments represent cash held with investment custodians or managers that is available for reinvestment by the College.

Marketable Securities and Other Investments – Marketable securities are reported at fair value. The cost of securities sold is determined by the average cost method and is used to compute realized gains and losses. Unrealized gains and losses reflect the changes in the market values of investments from the prior year. The date of record for investments is the trade date.

Marketable Alternative Investments - Diversifying and growth oriented hedge funds, are valued by using the Net Asset Value (NAV) provided by the funds' managers, calculated in accordance with valuation policies provided in their audited financial statements. The College reviews and evaluates the values provided by the investment managers and agrees with the valuation methods and assumptions used in determining the fair value of the alternative investments. The College has the ability to liquidate on a periodic basis in accordance with the provisions of the respective investment fund agreement.

Alternative Investments – Venture capital investments are stated at fair value as of the most recent valuation date at, or prior to, year-end. Diversified limited partnership interests are invested in both publicly and privately owned securities. The fair values of private investments are based on estimates and assumptions of the general partners or partnership valuation committees in the absence of readily determinable market values. Such valuations generally reflect discounts for illiquidity and consider variables such as financial performance of investments, recent sales prices of similar investments and other pertinent information. The private investments have a high concentration of pre-initial public offering securities, subjecting these investments to market value volatility. The College reviews and evaluates values provided by the investment managers and believes the valuation methods and assumptions used in determining the fair value of the alternative investments are appropriate.

Due to the risks associated with certain investments and the level of uncertainty related to changes in the value of the investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in risks in the near term could materially affect account balances and the amounts reported in the Statements of Financial Position.

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, CONTINUED:

Management of Pooled Investments:

The College follows an investment policy which anticipates a greater long-term return through investing for capital appreciation and accepts lower current yields from dividends and interest. In order to offset the effect of lower current yields for current operations, the Board of Trustees has adopted a spending policy for pooled investments whereby the amount of investment return available for current operations is determined by applying 5.00% and 6.60% to the trailing twenty-quarter average fair value of pooled investments for the years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021, respectively. If ordinary income of pooled investments is insufficient to provide the full amount of investment return specified, the balance may be appropriated from the available cumulative realized gains of the pooled investments. Cumulative net realized gains and transfers of ordinary income in excess of the spending policy ("cumulative gains") are recorded as changes in net assets without and with donor restrictions and are available for appropriation under the College's spending policy.

Funds with Deficiencies:

From time to time, declines in the market value of the investment pool have created a situation where the fair value of certain perpetual endowments is less than the historical cost basis of the original gift(s). Deficiencies of this nature have been recorded as decreases in net assets with donor restrictions (Note 13). These deficiencies, which the College believes are temporary, result from unfavorable market fluctuations and has determined that continued appropriation to these endowments is prudent.

Endowment Funds:

The Board of Trustees of the College interprets the California Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) to state that the College, in the absence of explicit donor stipulations to the contrary, may appropriate for expenditure or accumulate so much of an endowment as the College determines prudent for the uses, benefits, purposes, and duration for which the endowment fund is established. The College classifies perpetual endowment funds as net assets with donor restrictions, the original value of gifts to the endowment and the accumulations made in accordance with the donor intent until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the College in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by California UPMIFA which includes the:

- (1) Duration and preservation of the fund
- (2) Mission of the College and purpose endowment fund
- (3) General economic conditions
- (4) Possible effects of inflation and deflation
- (5) Expected total return from income and appreciation of investments
- (6) Other resources of the College
- (7) Investment policy of the College

Fair Value Measurement of Financial Instruments:

A financial instrument is defined as a contractual obligation that ultimately ends with the delivery of cash or an ownership interest in an entity. Disclosures included in these notes regarding the fair value of financial instruments have been derived using external market sources, estimates using present value or other valuation techniques. Determination of the fair value of loan fund receivables, which are primarily federally sponsored student loans with U.S. government mandated interest rates and repayment terms and subject to significant restrictions as to their transfer or disposition, could not be made without incurring excessive costs.

The College carries most investments and its beneficial interest in trusts held by third parties at fair value in accordance with applicable standards. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset (i.e., the "exit price") in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The standard establishes a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under the standard are as follows:

Level 1 – Inputs that reflect unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the College has the ability to access at the measurement date.

Level 2 – Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset either directly or indirectly, including inputs in markets that are not considered to be active.

Level 3 – Inputs that are unobservable.

Inputs are used in applying the valuation techniques and broadly refer to the assumptions that the College uses to make valuation decisions, including assumptions about risk. Inputs may include quoted market prices, recent transactions, manager statements, periodicals, newspapers, provisions within agreements with investment managers and other factors. An investment's level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The categorization of an investment within the hierarchy is based upon the pricing transparency of the investment and does not necessarily correspond to the College's perceived risk of that investment.

The investments in cash equivalents, money market, mutual funds, certain domestic and international equities, other assets and certain domestic fixed income funds are valued based on quoted market prices and classified within Level 1.

The investments in certain domestic fixed income, certain real properties, and other assets are valued based on quoted market prices of comparable assets and classified within Level 2.

Beneficial interest in trusts held by third parties are valued based on the discounted present value of future cash flows utilizing current Internal Revenue Service yield rates plus a 2.0% risk adjustment, which approximates fair value and classified within Level 3

The investment in certain equity securities, fixed income funds, hedge funds, private equity and other assets are measured at net asset value (NAV), and are, therefore, classified under NAV per share (or equivalent). For these investments, the College has determined, through its monitoring activities, to rely on the fair value as determined by the investment managers. The College's determination of fair value is based upon the best available information provided by the investment manager and may incorporate management assumptions and best estimates after considering a variety of internal and external factors. Such value generally represents the College's proportionate share of the capital of the investment as reported by their general partners and hedge fund. The balance of unfunded commitments, remaining life of finite investments and the terms for redeeming from investment funds including any restrictions are disclosed in Note 7.

Other assets measured at NAV includes a fifty percent ownership in a California limited liability company. The College uses the equity method to determine the College's interest in the other investment asset.

The general partners and managers of the underlying investments generally value investments at fair value in accordance with appropriate standards. Investments with non-readily available market are generally valued at estimated fair value by referring to meaningful third-party transactions, comparable public market valuations and/or the income approach. Consideration is given to financial condition and operating results of the investment, the amount the investment partnerships can reasonably expect to realize upon the sale of securities, and any other factors deemed relevant. An investment can be carried at acquisition price (cost) if little has changed since the initial investment of the company and is most representative of fair value. Investments with a readily available market (listed on a securities exchange or traded in the over-the-counter market) are valued at quoted market prices or at an appropriate discount from such price if marketability of the securities is restricted.

Although the College uses its best judgment in determining the fair value, there are inherent limitations in any methodology. Therefore, the values presented herein are not necessarily indicative of the amount that the College could realize in a current transaction. Future confirming events could affect the estimates of fair value and could be material to the financial statements. These events could also affect the amount realized upon liquidation of the investments.

Collections:

The College capitalizes its collections of works of art and rare books at their appraised or estimated fair value upon date of gift. In some cases, collection items held solely for their potential educational value or historic significance, or where the cost to establish the current fair value was deemed to exceed the benefit, were not assigned value for the purpose of capitalization.

Purchased collections are valued at cost. If the College decides to sell collections, proceeds from sales of will be used to acquire other items for the collection or support the direct care of existing collections.

Plant Facilities:

Plant facilities consists of property, plant and equipment and are stated at cost, representing the original purchase price or fair value at the date of the gift, less accumulated depreciation. Plant purchases with a useful life of five years or more and a cost equal to or greater than $25,000 for land improvements, $50,000 for large buildings (10,000 square feet) and major building renovations, $25,000 for other buildings, $15,000 for non-computing equipment and $10,000 for computing equipment are capitalized. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets, generally 25 years for land improvements, 60 years for buildings, 30 years for major renovations, 15 years for infrastructure equipment, 4 years for computing equipment and 7 years for other equipment. Depreciation expense is funded through operations and contributions. The cost and accumulated depreciation of assets sold or retired are removed from the accounts and the related gains or losses are included in the Statements of Activities. Asset retirement obligations are recorded based on estimated settlement dates and methods.

The College reviews long-lived assets, which include: collections and plant facilities for impairment whenever events or changes in business circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be fully recoverable. An impairment loss would be recognized when the estimated future cash flows from the use of the asset are less than the carrying amount of that asset. There were no such losses for the years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021.

During the years ended June 30, 2022 and 2021, no equipment or property was acquired with restricted assets where title may revert to another party, and there were no disposals of equipment or property purchased with federal funds.

Annuity and Life Income Contracts and Agreements:

The College has legal title to annuity and life income contracts and agreements subject to life interests of beneficiaries. No significant financial benefit is now being or can be realized until the contractual obligations are met. However, the costs of managing these contracts and agreements are included in operating expenditures.

The College uses the actuarial method of recording annuity and life income contracts and agreements. Under this method, the asset is recorded at fair value when a gift is received. The present value of the aggregate annuity payable is recorded as a liability, based upon life expectancy tables, and the remainder is recorded as a contribution in the appropriate net assets category. Investment income and gains are credited, and annuity payments and investment losses are charged, to the liability accounts, with periodic adjustments made between the liability and the net assets to record actuarial gains or losses. The actuarial liability is based on the present value of future payments discounted at rates ranging from 2.9% to 7.5% and 3.4% to 7.5% over estimated lives according to the 2012 Unisex Mortality Tables at June 30, 2022 and 2021, respectively.

On December 2, 1998, the Insurance Commission Chief Counsel granted the College permission to invest its reserves for California annuities pursuant to Insurance Code Section 11521.2(b). This approval is subject to the following conditions: (1) maintain a Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organization (NRSRO) bond rating of "A" or better and (2) maintain an endowment to gift annuity reserve ratio of at least 10:1. As of June 30, 2022 and 2021, reserve requirements were approximately $190,000.

Use of Estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, CONTINUED:

Income Taxes:

The objective of the College is to maintain and conduct a 501(c)(3) nonprofit educational institution. The primary purpose of accounting and reporting is the recording of resources received and applied rather than the determination of net income. The College had no uncertain tax positions and/or obligations at June 30, 2022 and 2021. The College has no unrecognized tax benefits as of June 30, 2022 and 2021.

On December 22, 2017, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the "Act") was enacted. The Act impacts the College through the addition of an excise tax on net investment income. The overall impact of the Act is being accessed by the College's management, however, it is not expected to have a material effect on the financial position or change in net assets of the College.

Accounting Pronouncements:

In September 2020, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2020-07, Presentation and Disclosures by Not-for-Profit Entities for Contributed Nonfinancial Assets. Under ASU 2020-07, contributed nonfinancial assets are required to be presented as a separate line item in the statement of activities, apart from contributions of cash or other financial assets. The College adopted this ASU on July 1, 2021 using the retrospective method. The adoption of the ASU did not have a material impact on the College's financial statements.
