OPENING FALL 2016 | NEW HALL AT SCRIPPS COLLEGE
When More Scripps launched in November 2013, campus leaders identified a new residence hall as the most critical building priority within the $175 million campaign. Less than a year later, Scripps received a generous $10 million lead naming gift to advance the project, which is being temporarily identified as NEW Hall.

Thanks to that $10 million gift, and a $1.1 million early gift from the Georgia B. Ridder Foundation, Scripps is poised to begin construction. However, additional support is needed to complete the approximately $25 million project.

Naming gift opportunities to support NEW Hall are available. For more information, please contact your personal advancement officer, or the office of Institutional Advancement at (909) 621-8638.
NEW HALL
AT SCRIPPS COLLEGE

“We made this investment because we believe in providing Scripps students with a superb liberal arts education on a stunning residential campus, while instilling in them the confidence and courage to lead and excel in today’s world.”

NEW HALL ANONYMOUS
LEAD DONOR

Thanks to a generous $10 million lead gift from an anonymous donor, shovels are poised to break ground in May 2015, for NEW Hall at Scripps College. NEW Hall will be located northwest of the Sallie Tiernan Field House, and the building is scheduled for completion in fall 2016.

Designed in harmony with the distinctive look of the original campus, NEW Hall will feature walks and vistas characteristic of our founder’s vision. The design reflects the Mediterranean style of architecture popular in southern California during the 1920s and 1930s that has earned Scripps a place in the National Register of Historic Places and a reputation as one of the nation’s most beautiful campuses.

Plans for NEW Hall embody the sense of place and visual texture that decades of Scripps students recall with great fondness—serene courtyards and grounds, as well as tastefully appointed interior spaces that provide a home away from home. Common areas include an entry hall, the Georgia B. Ridder Living Room, browsing room, kitchen/recreation area, laundry room, and computer room.

The plan’s residential area provides a total of about 110 beds in a combination of singles, doubles, and a one-bedroom director’s apartment. Space provided by NEW Hall will enable the flexibility to reconfigure some existing residence hall rooms: 10 existing triple rooms will become doubles; eight doubles will be reconfigured as singles; bunk beds will be eliminated; and the number of suites will increase. Students choosing to live on their own in singles will have more opportunity to do so.

BUILDING FEATURES

NEW Hall will embrace a new era of architecture. It is designed to LEED gold standards and will feature low-flow water fixtures, high-efficiency lighting, Energy Star appliances, and drip irrigation, among other environmentally friendly assets. NEW Hall will also be entirely ADA accessible.

Perhaps the most important element of sustainable construction at Scripps is buildings that are designed to withstand the tests of time. While other colleges tear down residence halls built in the 1970s and earlier to replace them with newer designs, Scripps builds its halls to last.

“I am thinking of a college campus whose simplicity and beauty will unobtrusively seep into the student’s consciousness and quietly develop a standard of taste and judgment.”

ELLEN BROWNING SCRIPPS, 1926

“When you gather some of the most promising students from across the country and around the world, and educate them to the highest standard of excellence in well-appointed living and learning spaces, extraordinary things happen.”

PRESIDENT LORI BETTISON-VARGA

“It’s such a special experience to live in the Scripps residence halls. So many inspiring women have lived in these rooms and created fantastic memories that have paved the way for us. NEW Hall will continue the tradition of Scripps women sharing a space in which they build community and dream big dreams!”
