

Higher Education Data Sharing Consortium (HEDS) Sexual Assault Campus Climate Survey Findings Scripps College

The HEDS Sexual Assault and Campus Climate Survey instrument is designed to cover the following topics: perceptions of campus climate around unwanted sexual contact and sexual assault, perceptions of how the institution addresses and responds to sexual assault, and the extent to which students have experienced unwanted sexual contact or sexual assault. The majority of survey questions are dedicated to specific details and circumstances around accounts of sexual assault in order to bring clarity to a topic that is inherently sensitive and difficult.

In the spring of 2015, the survey was emailed to approximately 8,000 graduate and undergraduate students at the seven Claremont colleges (7C). Survey responses were received from 2,475 students, for a rate of 31%. For the undergraduate (UG) student population, the response rate was 33% (1,949/5,896). At Scripps College (SCR), the response rate was 32% (318/982). Because the survey was voluntary, and the topic of sexual assault and campus climate has the potential to provoke strong opinions, it is impossible to determine the impact self-selection may have had on the results. Additionally, there was a high degree of variability among the seven institutions. Therefore, it is important to keep in mind that these results do not necessarily represent generalizations about the entire Claremont colleges' community, or Scripps College in particular.

The findings are divided into three sections:

1. Perceptions of campus climate and sexual assault
2. Institutional information and education about sexual assault
3. Unwanted sexual contact and sexual assault

SECTION 1: PERCEPTIONS OF CAMPUS CLIMATE AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

Students responded to the following questions using a 5-point scale, where 5 represents strongly agree, 4 is agree, 3 is neither agree nor disagree, 2 is disagree, and 1 is strongly disagree.

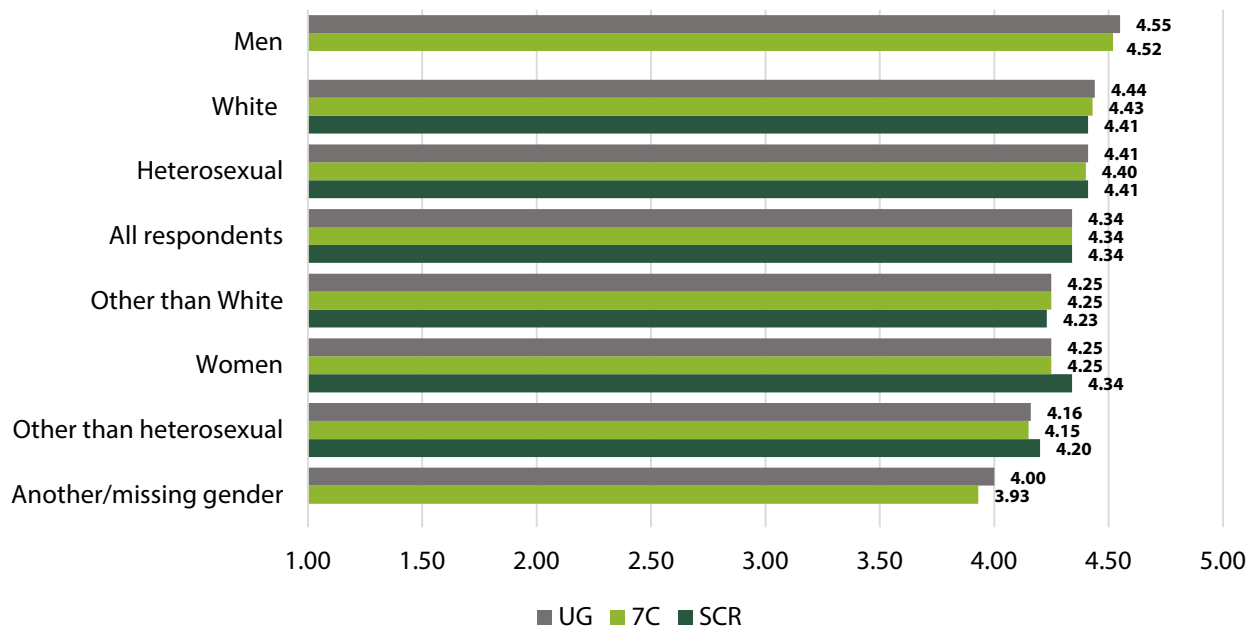

General views on campus climate are very positive. Over 90% of all 7C respondents agree or strongly agree that they feel safe on their campus; that figure is 80% for undergraduate respondents only and 89% for Scripps respondents.

Table 2 – Responses to Questions About General Climate

However, differences were observed among various populations as seen in Chart 1 below.

Chart 1 – Disaggregated responses to the statement I feel safe on this campus

Views about the institutional response to difficult or dangerous situations are slightly lower than those on campus climate, but remain positive.

Table 3 – Responses to questions about difficult or dangerous situations

While most respondents from the 7Cs (including undergraduates) and Scripps believe that other students would intervene if they witnessed a sexual assault, 42.2% UG and 39% 7C and 32% SCR still think that she/he or one of their friends is at risk for being sexually assaulted on campus or during off-campus events or programs sponsored by the institution. 46.5% UG and over half of 7C respondents and 43% SCR respondents perceive the number of sexual assaults that occur on campus or during off-campus events or programs sponsored by their institution to be low.

Once again, differences were observed among certain populations, as seen in Chart 2.

SECTION 3: UNWANTED SEXUAL CONTACT AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

Most respondents have never experienced unwanted sexual contact in the forms defined below:

Unwanted verbal behaviors – such as someone making sexual comments about your body; someone making unwelcome sexual advances, propositions, or suggestions to you; or someone telling you sexually offensive jokes or kidding about your sex or gender-specific traits

Unwanted nonverbal behaviors – such as sending you sexual emails, texts, or pictures; posting sexual comments about you on blogs or social media; showing you sexually offensive pictures or objects; leering at you or making lewd gestures towards you; or touching oneself sexually in front of you

Unwanted brief physical contact – such as someone briefly groping you, rubbing sexually against you, pinching you, or engaging in any other brief inappropriate or unwelcome touching of your body

In response to the question, “Has anyone attempted, but not succeeded in, sexually assaulting you while you were on campus or while you were off campus during an event or program sponsored by your institution?,” 8.1% of UG and 6.7% of 7C and 11% of SCR respondents answered yes. An additional 5.4% of UG and 4.7% of 7C and 6.9% of SCR respondents suspected that someone attempted to sexually assault them, but were not certain.

8.9% of UG and 7.2% of 7C and 11% of SCR survey respondents indicated that they had been sexually assaulted while they were on campus or while off campus at an event or program sponsored by their institution. An additional 3.9% of UG and 3.3% of 7C and 4.7% of SCR respondents suspect that someone sexually assaulted them, but were not certain.

Chart 7 – Reported incidents of sexual assault

Most reported incidents of sexual assault involve touching, over half involve sex – anal, oral, or vaginal.

Touching of a sexual nature - kissing you, touching of private parts, grabbing, fondling, rubbing up against you in a sexual way, even if it was over your clothes

Oral sex - someone’s mouth or tongue making contact with your genitals, or your mouth or tongue making contact with someone else’s genitals

Vaginal sex - someone’s penis being put in your vagina, or your penis being put into someone else’s vagina

Anal sex - someone’s penis being put in your anus, or your penis being put into someone else’s anus

Anal or vaginal penetration - with a body part other than a penis or tongue, or by an object, like a bottle or candle

Sexual assault frequently occurs when students are in susceptible situations; over 40% of UG and 7C and 31% of SCR assaulted students said they were unable to provide consent or stop what was happening because they were incapacitated. The majority of incidents involve either the assaulter or the assaulted drinking alcohol.

Many sexual assaults occur during the students' first year and through the completion of their second year. However, about half of the students who were sexually assaulted experienced multiple incidents and were asked to think about one incident for the survey.

In the majority of the incidents reported, males were the primary assaulters. Most assaults occurred on campus, in a residential building, or at another college or university.

For UG and 7C, 60% of the assaulters were students at their own institution and an additional 36%-37% were students at another institution. For Scripps respondents, 89% of the assaulters were students at another school. In nearly half of these reported cases at SCR, the assaulter was a stranger, while 31% were identified as casual dates or hookups, followed by a nonromantic friend or acquaintance (26%), and ex-romantic partners (11%).
