

At A Glance: Role of Scripps Title IX Responsible Employees

Reporting Obligation

Responsible Employees (RE) must report to the Title IX Coordinator (TIX C) if a student or other member of the Scripps community discloses an incident of sexual assault, dating/domestic violence, stalking, or sexual or gender-based harassment (TIX Matter).

Explain Your Role

When individuals share difficult information, they need as much control over next steps as possible. REs bolster this sense of control by letting the person know before (if possible) or immediately after the disclosure of a Title IX Matter they have to report to the TIX C.

As an example:

"I'm sensing you might want to tell me/have just told me about a sensitive and personal Title IX Matter. Please understand that I must share what I learn about such matters with the TIX Office."

Listen, Don't Lead

Let the reporting person guide the conversation. Listen attentively. Demonstrate sensitivity with your body language, tone, and mannerisms. Do not investigate.

Connect to Resources

REs have a special opportunity to help the reporting person access support. If they are open to it, review resources using information on the opposite side of this card, the Scripps TIX Wallet Card, the Scripps TIX website, and/or the 7C Support and Prevention website.
